Concentration and Success.

This is an age of concentration. The most successful men of the day, in every line of business, are those who concentrate all of their powers, directing all of their force and energy to the accomplishment of one thing. Hence we have specialists in the professions, and special lines in merchandise and mechanics and the trades.

These men, however, having made a specialty of shorthand work and reporting in all its branches, and having made a careful study of the art of teaching shorthand and preparing stenographers in the shortest possible time for successful work, fully recognizing the qualifications requisite for a competent stenographer, are making a specialty of preparing stenographers. Every stenographer graduated from the SHORTHAND INSTITUTE is a specialist.

Business men recognize the advantages of this method and the superiority of our graduates.

MILES IS AUTHORITY

On the Beef Question as Good as Germany Wants.

WILLIAM AND THE GUELPHS

Princelets Cheer the Burning of a Stage Witch.

(Copyright, 1899, by the Associated Press.)

Berlin, Jan. 28.—The German press is publishing extracts from the testimony of Major General Miles at Washington, and points out that this "unimpeachable" testimony is good material to use against the United States in the question of American canned meats. The Cologne Volks Zeitung calls the testimony an "efficient weapon."

A high imperial official tells the correspondent of the Associated Press that the chances of the meat inspection bill in the Reichstag are good. The Reichstag will pass it in spite of the agrarian opposition and the Contrists will not vote against it, except possibly the Bavarian contingent. Some members of the Reichstag support it, so the government feels sure of a strong majority.

THE SAMOAN AFFAIR.

Public opinion was focused on the Samoan question this week. The United States ambassador, Andrew White, has informed the correspondent here of the Associated Press that he has had several meetings with the minister of foreign affairs, Baron von Bülow, and that assurances were given on both sides of a mature and equitable solution of the question. Baron von Bülow's whole attitude tended to show that the German government means to do its full share in settling the matter fairly and amicably. From another authentic source, the following has been learned: The preliminary negotiations, thus far, have not gone beyond mutual assurances of a desire for a friendly and equitable arrangement and the negotiations will not take a more tangible shape until the end of the month of February at Samoa. This will involve a delay of a month in the case of Germany, though the reports will reach the United States and Great Britain earlier. Until then no decisive steps or negotiations can be undertaken. The telegraphic news of the German government has been meagre. The suggested partition of the Samoan group among the three powers, which has been discussed in the German press, has not been broached, the correspondent is authoritatively assured, in any form by either power. The German press commented on the Samoan matter yesterday. The general opinion expressed was that the tripartite agreement is a failure and ought to be changed, but opinions differed widely respecting the remedy. The Kreuz Zeitung urges the partition of the islands. The semi-official Hamburger Correspondent claims that the partition is impossible, because of the fact that the three powers would undoubtedly want the one valuable island, Upolu. The Munich Neue Nachrichten takes the government to task for its "weak and pusillanimous" policy. The other two powers, Norway and Great Britain, and the Volks-Zeitung and Cologne Volk Zeitung talk similarly. The correspondent of the Associated Press has interviewed United States Ambassador White regarding the statement that the United States wants Germany to recall the German consul at Samoa, Herr Froese. The ambassador said: "The statements are incorrect. The truth is that both sides are awaiting fuller information. Each side decidedly inclines to believe that mistakes have been made all around, but just how far each is responsible there is no means of telling until the dispatches arrive here and at Washington. The two governments have discussed the matter in the most friendly manner, and each has avowed its readiness to do what ever is just and right, including the disposal of any action of one or more of its agents which may be shown to have been contrary to the treaty or the comity of the nations concerned."

WILLIAM AND THE GUELPHS.

A recent action of Emperor William is regarded as being of great political significance. From a member of his majesty's entourage who accompanied him to Hanover, the following has been learned: The emperor had accepted an invitation to attend this week, the silver wedding festival of the Duke and Duchess of Saxony-Coburg and Gotha, but heard with chagrin that the Duke of Cumberland, the Guelph claimant of Hanover and Brunswick, had also been invited. Thereupon he sent a strong expression of his dissatisfaction to the Duke of Saxony-Coburg and Gotha and although the Duke of Cumberland, in the meanwhile, had expressed regret of his inability to attend, the emperor remained in high dudgeon and stayed away. There have been persistent rumors lately to the effect that the eldest son of the Duke of Cumberland might one day ascend the dual throne of Brunswick, if he consents to abdicate all claim to the throne of Hanover, demonstrates his loyalty to Prussia and accepts the status quo by becoming an officer in a Prussian regiment of the guards. The emperor, however, seems to have made his decision to Hanover in order to repudiate any intention of a re-approachment with the former Guelph dynasty, and by the proclamation of his order providing for the identification of the Prussian regiments of Hanover with the regiments of the old Hanoverian army he has made it plain that he considers the union of Hanover and Prussia to be an unalterable fact. He thus gave the death-blow to the hopes of the Guelph party. The emperor has now established a permanent bond between the old Hanoverian regiments and the present Teutonic army corps, which is recruited from the province of Hanover. His majesty also presented his Hanoverian Guards with a Hamel badge inscribed "Pomerania-Waterloo-Hanover." The emperor, who presented the Hanoverian Guards with a badge with the words "Pomerania-Waterloo-Hanover." It is said in court circles that the emperor for some time past has been made aware of recent intimacies of the Duke of Cumberland regarding his majesty, which have deeply wounded his self-esteem.

EXPULSION OF THE DANES.

During a long debate in the diet this week on the expulsion of Danes from North Schleswig, the numbers certainly advanced a number of strong reasons justifying the recent measures. The most convincing speech came from Folkvige Ibsen, who described the anti-Danish agitation carried on by the Danes and furnished a large number of instances showing that their object was clearly to secure a separation of Northern Schleswig from Prussia. Those of the speakers who retained the question of the German army which sided with the Danes "active hostility" announced. The decoration of Baron von

SCRATCHED TILL RAW

Eczema on Leg from Knee to Toe. No Rest Day or Night. Doctor's Salves, etc., Could Not Cure. CUTICURA Remedies Cured.

My husband's legs, from knee to toes, were itching with Eczema. He had no rest day or night, and would scratch so his legs would be raw. He had a good many doctors, who gave him about a peck of bottles, salve and other things to rub on, but none did him any good. I told him to try CUTICURA Remedies. He went that instant and got CUTICURA Soap, CUTICURA (ointment), and CUTICURA RESOLVENT. That night he rested well, and kept getting better until he was cured. Mrs. H. JENKINS, Middleboro, Ky.

BURNED THE WICKED WITCH.

Emperor William arranged a great treat for many poor Berlin school children early in the week, in the shape of a gratuitous performance of Humperdinck's "Hansel and Gretel." The house was packed with 1,000 citizens. The imperial couple were present, accompanied by the Princess Louise and three younger princes. His majesty was in excellent spirits and was seen to be continually explaining to the children all about the piece. There were shouts of joy from the imperial box when the wicked witch was burned. The last act was provided with a pretty spontaneous act of homage to the imperial family. At present rose and lustily sang the national anthem. This was followed by enthusiastic "hoops." The imperial party had to repeatedly bow their thanks.

A PREMIUM ON INJUSTICE.

There was a curious incident this week in the emperor promoting the president of the court of the imperial court at Leipzig, Judge Wislizenki, recently sentenced an innocent laborer to eighteen months in jail, it being shown that the prisoner was a Socialist. The latter appealed to the imperial court, which reversed the sentence and censured Judge Wislizenki for his loose methods in arriving at the judgment. Now, the censured judge, on the emperor's order, becomes a member of the bench which has just solemnly declared his unfitness for judicial functions.

AMERICAN IRON AND STEEL.

The semi-official Post, in an article on American competition in iron and steel, declares that in spite of the fact that American imports have risen from $300,000 marks in 1885 to $9,000,000 in 1898, German manufacturers need not be alarmed. "The imports are due to extraordinary temporary causes." The Post also calls attention to the decrease in imports of American bicycles lately and congratulates the German manufacturers on "overcoming the strong American competition."

A GOVERNMENT LOAN.

It was announced today that the imperial and Prussian governments had sold and Deutsche bank 50,000,000 marks of 3 per cent imperial loans and 125,000,000 marks of Prussian consols, which will shortly be placed on the market. The reloaning of this money was a decree authorizing a 3 per cent loan of $5,000,000 marks, under the law of March 31, 1892, empowering the government to borrow money for the army, navy and railway purposes.

LEXOWERS HAVE A CASE.

Weather Butler Inspector Price Shows His Books or Doesn't. St. Louis, Jan. 28.—Senators Hohenlohe and Childers, of the "Lexow" committee, which is in St. Louis investigating municipal affairs, today requested permission of City Hall Inspector Price to examine his books. Mr. Price declared he would surrender his books and papers to nobody but Mayor Ziegenbein. He emphatically denied the authority of the state over his office.

It was decided not to press the matter, the committee believing it had enough evidence against the boiler inspector to serve their purpose. It is not the committee's intention, they say, to accept the Price case as a test. The value of the information to be gleaned from the boiler

Gains 16 Pounds on Grape-Nuts

Don't Want His Name Used.

The managing editor of one of the most famous Chicago dailies stated in a private conversation a few days ago: "All I like about Grape-Nuts is that I am sixteen pounds heavier now than I was this fall and I noticed the gain in flesh commenced a short time after I adopted Grape-Nuts for my breakfast."

"No, I have made no other change in my habit of life, have been working even a little more steadily than in the past, and seem to have an increased amount of vitality. This is not for publication, you understand, for I cannot afford the time to answer a lot of letters of inquiry."

There is a reason why the use of Grape-Nuts feels an increase in vital strength and brain power. The food is made for its purpose and was planned by a food expert, who knows his well how to do the things he is trained for as a blacksmith knows how to shape iron, or a carpenter knows how to produce things of wood. When you eat Grape-Nuts you take advantage of the knowledge of a scientific food-maker. A trial will give you a better Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.

WILL OCCUR TOMORROW MORNING!

A Sweeping Sale of Felt Hats So Low That the Price Hardly Seems Possible!

The only reason we name the price we do, instead of giving them away, is that otherwise, many people would take them who do not want a hat. The crowd will be large enough as it is, and you'll see this lot of 500 Felt Hats melt away like an icicle in a noon day sun. If, perchance, some of these hats do not sell tomorrow, we'll pledge you our word and honor that they'll never be seen in Wichita again. We've a place for them in other lands. These are 500 Felt Fur Hats, picked from our wholesale millinery stock. All the colors and shades known to the fall styles of 1898. All the various fancy French shapes known to the hatters' art, besides a goodly collection of Sailors, Tam O'Shanter, Walking Hats, Tandems and Military Styles; $1.00, $1.50 and even $2.00 would not have been too much for them two months ago. ### Would You Make a Dollar If You Knew How?

Well, we guess yes. Most of the money spent by the average American today goes for something to eat. Three times a day and 365 days in the year we "feed our faces." Do you realize that a little saving on each meal will mean many dollars to you at the end of the year?—not skimping the amount you eat, but saving in the sum that you pay for it. Do you pay more for your groceries than you ought to? You can only tell by comparing with other grocery prices. Here is a brand new grocery store—clean and up-to-date. Its success from the start—four months ago—has been little less than phenomenal. There's a reason for this success, and it is the fact that we really sell three-fourths of all kinds of groceries for little less money than any other grocery store in Wichita. More people are finding this out every day, and this grocery store will grow and grow, because it can't help it. We're selling as good coffee—the same coffee, if you please—as any other grocery store will sell you for 25 cents per pound, and our price is only 19 cents per pound. Buy it and try it, and if you don't think as we do, bring it back and get your money. That's fair, ain't it?

A Celebrated Author's Opinion.

JOHN R. MUSICK
Is a native Missourian, having been born in St. Louis county forty-seven years ago. He is the author of eighteen books and has written for almost every magazine, newspaper or literary journal in the United States. His chief literary work has been the Columbia Historical Novels, in which the history of the United States is given in twelve volumes. This work has received the highest praise from all the leading literary critics in England and America, and also the presidents of Yale and Harvard, and more than twenty principal of American, English and Canadian universities. It is reported that William McKinley, while a presidential candidate in 1896, found time to read the Columbia Historical Novels, completing the entire series. He has written one of the most favorable independent of them that any work has received—50.

I am which afford my opinion in regard to the newly discovered science of Osteopathy. This world is perhaps more interested in the art of healing diseases than in any other subject. Being so infatigable as to enjoy a long acquaintance with Dr. A. T. Still, the discoverer of the science, and having for years witnessed the results from osteopathic treatment, I am capable of saying that the science is one of the greatest blessings mankind. I have seen the lame made to walk, the blind to see, the paralyzed restored to health and many instances, as it were, from the grave. I have seen all chronic diseases, which have defied the skill of the best physicians in the world, yield to the new system of healing. I have seen typhoid fever cured in less than a week. I have seen rheumatism cured in less than an hour. All this seems so marvelous that I hesitate to tell it, but I am expressing rather than exaggerating facts. One who for twenty-five years has lived within the city of the new light, can tell wonder at the results. Does Osteopathy cure all and raise the dead from the grave? Not but the new which osteopaths handle results in practically every instance. The science Osteopathy has proved that men from caves had been found. How do they live? I don't know. I am an Osteopath. It takes two long years of hard study to know how it is done, and I have never mastered the science as a body, but I have seen thousands of cases before and after taking, and I am fully convinced that Osteopathy can accomplish wonders.—John R. Musick.
